

Networkeffect Galatians 5 edition

Galatians 5

19When you follow the desires of your sinful nature, the results are very clear: sexual immorality, impurity, lustful pleasures, 20idolatry, sorcery, hostility, quarreling, jealousy, outbursts of anger, selfish ambition, dissension, division, 21envy, drunkenness, wild parties, and other sins like these. Let me tell you again, as I have before, that anyone living that sort of life will not inherit the Kingdom of God.

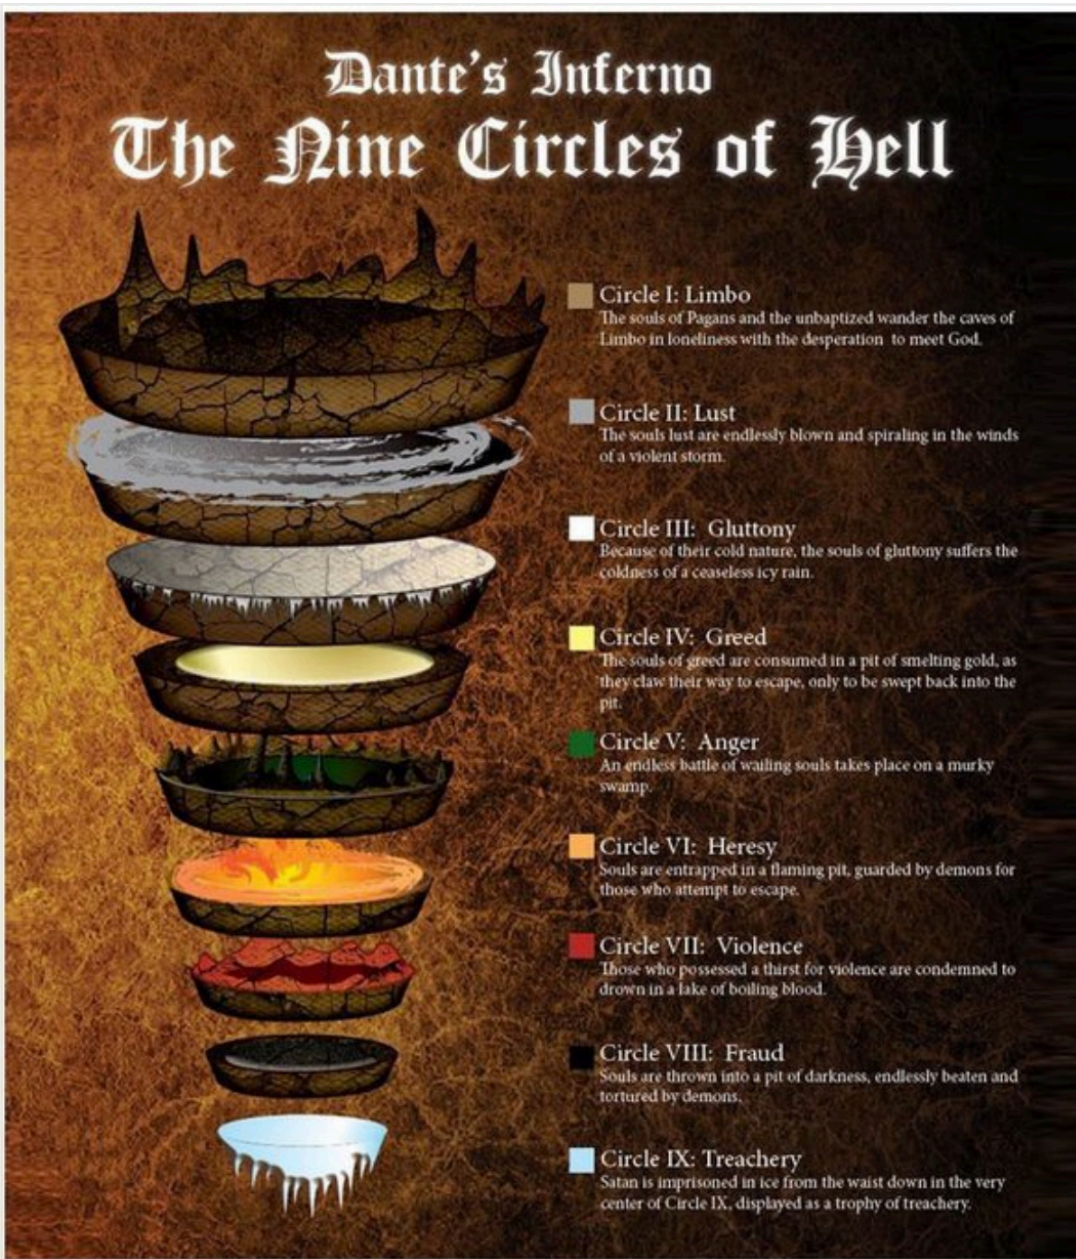

22But the Holy Spirit produces this kind of fruit in our lives: love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, 23gentleness, and self-control. There is no law against these things!

Galatians 5 Interactive Preview Plan

1. Preview Objective

The preview will be a short, continuously looping audiovisual experience inspired by the structure and pacing of Network Effect.

Its purpose is to:

- Introduce the nine fruits of the Spirit through real human moments.
- Let visitors recognize the theme without fully explaining the final project.
- Tease the contrast between the fruit of the Spirit and the works of the flesh.
- Build anticipation through a countdown to the full project's release.
- Test the project's core interaction: pressing and holding the screen to reveal the contrasting layer.

This is not the complete Galatians 5 experience. It is a focused prototype and promotional preview.

- Please do research into what effects the networkeffect.io used to make their videos look like how they look like and replicate that as best as possible so it almost feels like you are viewing a dream

2. Core Experience

When the visitor enters the page, a continuous sequence of short videos begins playing automatically.

The sequence follows the exact order of the fruits of the Spirit in Galatians 5:

1. Love
2. Joy
3. Peace
4. Patience
5. Kindness
6. Goodness
7. Faithfulness
8. Gentleness
9. Self-control

Each fruit receives:

- 4 consecutive video clips
- One spoken sentence
- One short audiovisual section lasting approximately three to four seconds

After self-control, the sequence returns seamlessly to love.

There will be no visible headings identifying each fruit. The spoken sentences will communicate the structure.

3. Fruit Video Structure

Each fruit will be represented through 4 related but distinct human moments.

Clip One: Everyday Expression

The first clip should show a simple, recognizable expression of the fruit.

Examples:

- Someone listening attentively
- Friends laughing together

- A person waiting calmly
- Someone sharing food
- A person comforting another person

Clip Two: Costly Expression

The second clip should show the fruit when practicing it requires sacrifice, restraint, forgiveness, courage, or commitment.

Examples:

- Choosing not to retaliate
- Forgiving someone who caused harm
- Staying with someone through difficulty
- Giving something valuable away
- Remaining calm during conflict

This prevents the fruits of the Spirit from appearing shallow or limited to generic acts of kindness.

4. Spoken Sentence Structure

Each fruit will have one spoken sentence that plays across its two video clips. Every sentence must explicitly contain the actual name of the fruit it represents. The sentences should sound personal and human rather than like dictionary definitions. they should also tie into the biblical significants of these fruit

Example Fruit Sentences

Love

"Love made me stay when leaving would have been easier."

Joy

"Joy found me before my circumstances ever changed."

Peace

"Peace came when I stopped needing to win."

Patience

"Patience gave him the time I wanted to take away."

Kindness

"Kindness noticed the person everyone else walked past."

Goodness

"Goodness chose what was right when nobody was watching."

Faithfulness

"Faithfulness kept showing up long after the feeling disappeared."

Gentleness

"Gentleness showed me that strength does not have to cause harm."

Self-control

"Self-control helped me leave the message unsent."

The final sentences can later be replaced with authentic testimonies, but these lines can be used during the prototype.

5. Audio Direction

The spoken sentences will be recorded by different people to create a collective human voice.

The preview should use:

- Nine total fruit voice recordings
- One voice associated with each fruit
- Different ages, tones, and speaking styles where possible
- Quiet atmospheric sound beneath the voices
- Subtle overlap between the end of one sentence and the beginning of the next

Only one sentence should remain clearly understandable at a time.

The fruit audio should feel:

- Warm
- Spacious
- Human
- Calm
- Reflective

It should not feel like a sermon, advertisement, or narrated explainer.

6. Video Timing and Speed

The original Network Effect accelerated two-second source clips into one-second clips to create anxiety, urgency, and information overload.

The Galatians 5 preview should borrow the rapid visual language without making the fruit section feel frantic.

Recommended Fruit Timing

- Original source clip length: three to five seconds
- Final clip length: approximately 1.5 to two seconds
- Playback speed: approximately 1.1x to 1.4x
- Two clips per fruit: approximately three to four seconds
- Full nine-fruit loop: approximately 30 to 36 seconds

Most transitions should be direct cuts rather than long fades.

Some especially emotional clips may remain at normal speed so visitors have enough time to understand the action or facial expression.

7. Press-and-Hold Interaction

The only major interaction on the preview page will be pressing and holding anywhere on the screen.

The default fruit sequence will continue playing automatically without requiring user interaction.

While the Screen Is Not Being Held

The visitor sees:

- Fruit videos

- Fruit voices
- Calm environmental audio
- The release countdown

When the Visitor Presses and Holds

The audiovisual stream switches to the hidden works-of-the-flesh layer.

The hidden video should remain aligned with the fruit timeline.

For example:

Default Fruit Sequence	Held-Down Contrast
Love clip 1	Hostility clip 1
Love clip 2	Hostility clip 2
Joy clip 1	Envy clip 1
Joy clip 2	Envy clip 2
Peace clip 1	Conflict clip 1
Peace clip 2	Conflict clip 2

The user should feel that the works of the flesh were present underneath the original sequence rather than being transported to a completely separate page.

Hold Transition

The switch should happen quickly but not instantaneously.

Suggested transition:

- 0–0.3 seconds: audio begins distorting
- 0.3–0.7 seconds: image flickers or darkens
- Around 0.7 seconds: the flesh content becomes fully visible

While Holding

The flesh layer should feel:

- Faster
- More repetitive
- More crowded
- More aggressive
- Less emotionally intimate
- Harder to process clearly

The flesh clips may play at approximately 1.5× to 2× speed and use sharper cuts.

The hidden voices may overlap more heavily and sound less distinct.

When the Visitor Releases

The fruit video and audio return immediately at the equivalent point in the timeline.

The sequence should not restart from love.

For example, if the visitor holds during patience and releases during kindness, the experience should return during the kindness section.

8. Works-of-the-Flesh Preview Content

The preview does not need to include every work of the flesh named in Galatians 5.

It only needs enough contrasting content to demonstrate the central interaction. Possible creative contrasts include:

- Love versus hostility
- Joy versus envy
- Peace versus conflict
- Patience versus fits of anger
- Kindness versus selfish ambition
- Goodness versus harmful desire
- Faithfulness versus betrayal or idolatry
- Gentleness versus aggression
- Self-control versus uncontrolled indulgence

These pairings are artistic contrasts rather than claims that Galatians 5 gives every fruit one official opposite.

Each hidden section should also contain two clips and one spoken sentence. The flesh sentences should contain the relevant work or impulse being represented, just as each fruit sentence contains the fruit's actual name.

Examples:

- "Hostility convinced me that hurting him would protect me."
- "Envy made her success feel like my failure."
- "Conflict gave me something to win and someone to defeat."
- "Anger made the moment feel more important than the relationship."
- "Selfish ambition taught me to see people as competition."

The complete flesh script can be developed after the fruit preview structure is approved.

9. Countdown Design

A release countdown will remain visible throughout the preview.

Suggested format:

12 DAYS : 04 HOURS : 31 MINUTES

The countdown should be visually minimal and should not cover the videos.

Suggested placement:

- Bottom center of the screen
- Small enough to preserve the artwork
- Large enough to remain readable on mobile

The preview should not initially explain the entire project.

Optional supporting text:

Press and hold.

This instruction can appear after the visitor has watched for several seconds, rather than being shown immediately.

10. Visual Design

The page should feel like a digital art installation rather than a conventional landing page.

Main Interface

- One full-screen video at a time
- No cards
- No navigation menu
- No visible fruit labels
- No explanatory paragraphs over the footage
- No buttons except an optional sound control
- Minimal countdown typography
- Desktop and mobile support

Fruit Visual Treatment

- Natural or warm color grading
- Clear human faces and actions
- Minimal visual distortion
- Stable framing
- Gentle environmental movement

Flesh Visual Treatment

- Increased contrast
- Faster movement
- Repetition
- Cropped or obstructed faces
- Digital distortion
- Sharper audio
- Abrupt visual cuts

The difference should be communicated through both the subject matter and the form of the experience.

11. Preview Asset Requirements

Fruit Assets

- 18 fruit video clips
- Two clips per fruit
- Nine spoken fruit sentences
- Nine voice recordings
- Ambient music or environmental sound

Flesh Assets

- 18 contrasting video clips
- Two clips aligned with each fruit section
- Approximately nine contrasting sentences
- Approximately nine contrasting voice recordings
- Distorted or intensified ambient audio

Interface Assets

- Countdown

- Press-and-hold indicator
- Optional sound-on prompt
- Mobile touch support
- Desktop mouse support

12. Recommended Preview Length

The complete loop should last approximately 30 to 36 seconds.

Example timing:

- Love: four seconds
- Joy: four seconds
- Peace: four seconds
- Patience: four seconds
- Kindness: four seconds
- Goodness: four seconds
- Faithfulness: four seconds
- Gentleness: four seconds
- Self-control: four seconds

Total: approximately 36 seconds

This is long enough for visitors to recognize the nine-part progression without making the preview feel slow.

13. Success Criteria

The preview is successful when visitors:

- Understand that the clips are organized around positive human qualities.
- Begin recognizing love, joy, peace, and the remaining fruits through the spoken sentences.
- Discover the hidden press-and-hold interaction.
- Feel a clear emotional difference between the default and held states.
- Become curious about what the countdown is leading toward.
- Want to return when the complete experience launches.

The preview does not need to explain every theological detail. Its goal is to let visitors experience the contrast before the full project reveals its complete meaning.
